Council Says Areas South Of City May Initiate Annexation

Tuesday afternoon the city council took Step Four along the 32-step path which may or may not lead to the annexation of the Mission Tract, Mission Fields and the Walker Tract to Carmel.

Approved unanimously by the council on Tuesday was permission for proponents of annexation in two areas contiguous to the city to initiate steps to circulate annexation petitions.

Those in favor of annexation in the two areas are obliged to take Step Five, that is send, simultaneously, copies of the resolutions passed by the council on Tuesday to the county's local agency formation commission and boundary commission.

A public hearing on the annexation matter must then be held by the local agency formation commission.

On Tuesday, the council decided that if, and when, residents of the areas which requested to be allowed to annex to the city on September 10 circulate annexation petitions, these petitions must state that property owners in the areas will be equally obligated with Carmel taxpayers to pay off the bonded indebtedness of the city contracted for capital improvements.

(At present the only such obligation is Sunset School. The $575,000 bond issue to purchase this facility will be paid off over a 20-year period by a portion of the revenue from the city's four percent hostelry tax.)

The permission to initiate annexation procedure covered two areas. The first, designated as Mission Fields, includes the Walker Tract and land on the western slope of Hatton Fields Mesa, also includes Carmel Mission, the Carmel Sanitary District plant, and Carmel River Inn.

The second area, Mission Tract, includes the Mission Ranch and River School.

The southerly boundaries of both are along Carmel River. The council therefore recognized that the city would be involved, if annexation takes place, with flood control responsibility.

The Rhyming Philosopher

By Harry W. Fletcher

No. 91

John Jackson Jones worked in a store with other men. He cleaned the floor, helped wait on customers, and worked the jobs the other fellows shirked, without being told.

One day The Boss was called away, and said, "I won't be back today, or for a week. In any case somebody here must take my place, and watch what's being sold."

Off went The Boss where business called, and right away all action stalled, and everybody stood around and talked just like The Boss would sound; except John Jackson Jones.

He worked like mad because he knew there's work the others wouldn't do. He kept the books and watched the stock, and while the others watched the clock, he answered all the phones.

When Boss got back, to Jones he said, "What makes you think you'll get ahead by working at this pace?" Said Jack, "You stayed too long a time; I bought the lease—the store is mine. You said to take your place!"

THE HOST

This morning at 7:15 o'clock play started in the 24th National Pro-Amateur Golf Championship sponsored by Bing Crosby (above). Every eight minutes after the first of the 174 pros teamed with 174 amateurs teed off, other players began their first rounds. Play will rotate tomorrow and Saturday over Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and the new Monterey Peninsula Country Club Shore Course.

On Sunday the 40 low teams, plus ties and pros in the money, will play off at Pebble Beach. Purses for the 1965 tournament is $84,500. This will be broken up into $50,000 for the 40 top professional players; $30,000 for the 30 top pro-amateur teams; and a $4,500 daily double for today, tomorrow and Saturday. The low pro in the pro-am will receive $1,000 each day and the runner-up $500. Ties will split.

Each of the pro-am teams will receive $7,500 and the runner-up $4,000. The pro-am first place winner, on a best-ball basis, will receive $4,000 and the runner-up $2,700. Seven amateur trophies will be awarded, too.

Each of the pro-am teams will play 18 holes each day in the 72-hole tournament.

The Victory Dinner at the Monterey County Fairgrounds on Sunday evening will end events of what has become the most popular golf tournament in the world and raised over a million dollars for charity.

During the tournament, Carmel Youth Center members will serve food from their mobile food units called Bingmobiles in honor of Mr. Crosby. The youth center is one of the local organizations which has benefited from the Crosby Clambake. The Bingmobiles were donated in order to aid local teenagers in raising funds to support their recreation center.

They will be stationed at several locations on the golf courses.

Use Permit Sought For Public Golf Course And Hotel Near Junior High

Preliminary plans for Hatton Park, a 75-acre resort hotel and golf course development, will be presented to the Monterey County Planning Commission on Tuesday afternoon by August Nieto of Carmel, president of the corporation which is seeking a use permit to develop a parcel of land behind Carmel Junior High School.

According to Mr. Nieto, the idea of developing the property on both sides of Carmel River has been under consideration for over five years.

Fifty acres of Hatton Park will be a recreational public park including a compact (par 66), 18-hole golf course. Ten acres will be used as the resort area planned to contain a 100-unit motel, restaurant and pro shop. No plans are proposed for future development of the remaining acres.

Yesterday afternoon, Carmel planning commissioners made recommendations on Hatton Park at the request of the county planning commission. To be forwarded in a letter to the county body are the following recommendations: (a) Hatton Park sewage disposal should be fully explored; (b) no buildings be allowed in the possible flood area near the river; (c) types of recreation, in addition to the golf course, be specified; (d) use of 15 acres not presently designated for development should be spelled out; (e) all structures should be subject to design review control to ensure an harmonious residential atmosphere.

Carmel planners were asked to consider Hatton Park because the development falls within their advisory area to the county planning commission.

Mr. Nieto points out that Hatton Park is compatible with the Carmel Valley Master Plan. Preliminary plans propose retaining 99 percent of the trees in the wooded areas bordering the river. These areas, in some places, will extend back from the riverbed as far as 600 feet in comparison with the 100 feet designated for greenbelt in county planning.

The entrance to the recreational resort will be off Carmel Valley Road east of the junior high (Continued on Page Eighteen)

Planners Favor Temporary City Hall At Sunset

The city hall and the city's administrative offices should be moved, on a temporary basis, to the north wing of Sunset School, after the city takes over the school on July 1, was a recommendation approved by the Carmel Planning Commission yesterday afternoon.

This recommendation, which will be forwarded to the city council, was contained in a report of the commission's ad hoc committee. A second report by the same committee, also approved by the commission, stated that eventually all the city's administrative offices should be situated in a civic center developed on the land the city owns on Junipero below Fourth; also that a new temporary police station should be constructed on the present police station site.

Another recommendation in the first ad hoc committee report approved by the commission was that the present city hall site be used for a municipal "in lieu" parking lot. Such use of the property would provide 80 of the needed 145 off-street parking spaces if the new parking ordinance now under consideration demands that all business developments be obligated to provide off-street parking, or make "in lieu" payments to the city.

Were the city hall site used as a parking lot, there is a "possibility of realizing most, if not all, of its present market value ($120,000) from the receipt of 'in lieu' payments," the report adopted by the planning commission for referral to the council stated.

Other recommendations in the report were that the city council should authorize a site development plan for a civic center on the city-owned land on Junipero below (Continued on Page Eighteen)

City Planners Urge Tax Adjustments For Greenbelt Land

Carmel planning commissioners, yesterday afternoon, recommended that the city council adopt the Monterey Peninsula Area Plan.

However, commissioners asked the city council to urge immediate action by the area planning commission to revise certain designations in the area plan for land south of Carmel.

These were (1) That the type of planning for the Odello brothers' property and the Stuyvesant Fish Ranch be revised to more nearly accomplish the purpose of retaining scenic and open space qualities, preservation of prominent topographical features, and protection of approved developments from hazardous conditions such as flooding by the Carmel River.

(2) That such a planning concept, when well developed, be made applicable to all large land holdings which have similar characteristics and problems as the two properties referred to above.

The commission also asked the council to recommend to the area planners that the latter body take steps to implement many objectives of the area plan, especially in respect to large landowners, including both the Odello brothers and Mr. Fish.

These were: (1) that types of regulations be instituted immediately to maintain the status quo until equitable zoning regulations can be developed.

(2) That public bodies explore all avenues to seek state legislation to permit assessment to be adjusted for land kept in a greenbelt condition.

The report on the area plan made by the commission for the council to consider also stated that the above recommendations were made because, after meeting with large landowners, commissioners felt that there was a need for special and unique treatment of (Continued on Page Eighteen)

KIWANIS ANNIVERSARY

Today is the golden anniversary of the founding of Kiwanis International and Mayor Herbert Blanks sent a letter of congratulations to the Carmel Kiwanis Club.

The letter thanked the local club, on behalf of the community and the council, for "the distinguished civic service rendered by the Carmel Kiwanis Club during the past 16 years."

Specified were Kiwanis support of the Carmel Youth Center, college scholarships for Carmel High School students, interest in Carmel Foundation Town House and funds to provide trees for Junipero Street.

Byron Janis Concert A High Point Of Carmel Music Society Season

By EBBEN WHITTLESEY

What must surely be considered a high point of the current concert season, the appearance of Byron Janis, was enjoyed Sunday by the Carmel Music Society audience. One of the greatest of America's pianists at a time when there are a host of highly polished young keyboard performers, Janis has achieved noteworthy recognition before European audiences.

His well chosen program consisted entirely of works of genuine musical interest, combining such familiar favorites as the Chopin Sonata in B Flat Minor, the "Funeral" sonata, with less frequently heard works by Proko-fiev.

In the opening work, Haydn's Sonata in E Flat Major, two of the artist's dominant characteristics were soon apparent. These were the singing, floating quality of his tone and the lively color of his interpretation. Treatment of the music was light, fluent, almost playful, yet full of contrast.
Haydn's music is always graceful and good-humored, but I have rarely felt it come so thoroughly alive, as if stepping from the 18th century into the present. The thoughtful and gracious second movement was delightful for its tonal beauty and easy fluency of execution.

Schumann's Andantino di Clara Wieck made the transition into the romantic school with a reflective and moody, yet tender treatment of this warmly colored music. Emotional qualities were developed without self-conscious dramaticism.

There is no composer of the romantic period whose music demands more maturity in the artist for its effective interpretation than does Chopin. The Sonata in B Flat Minor was played with force and dramatic effect. Though considerable climaxes are reached in the development of his subject, Mr. Janis never played in a showy or affected manner. His tone is never harsh, his emphasis never a matter of percussive force. The famous funeral march was interpreted with almost too much restraint and played more slowly than is often done.

Following the intermission Ravel's Sonatine was pensive, evocative and ornate. Runs were clearly and effortlessly articulated, and the characteristic harp-like effects remarkably delicate in texture. Here, as throughout most of the program, I felt that Mr. Janis fulfilled to a high degree the true role of a performing artist, in that he gave himself completely to the work as he played it seeking to subordinate his own personality in order best to express the purpose and meaning of the composer.

Two interesting and widely different works by Prokofiev rounded out the program. Fifteen Visions Fugitives evoked the more whimsical, thoughtful and playful aspects of this composer. The artist appeared to enjoy himself thoroughly and made the most of the fascinating rhythmic patterns and nimble phrases.

Toccata, Opus 11 by the same composer developed a different aspect. It was more forceful, more incisively modern in feeling. It is a very pianistic work brilliantly performed, yet speaking for itself, not overplayed or treated as a tour de force. At its close a standing ovation from the audience was acknowledged graciously by two encores, the Chopin Waltz in A Minor and the familiar Miller's Dance from the Three Cornered Hat by de Falla.

I would like to hear this artist play some Beethoven, but would not have given up anything that I heard Sunday in order to do so.

New Play Opens At White Oaks Theatre

Opening tomorrow at Carmel Valley's White Oaks Theatre is
"The Mousetrap," written by the foremost mystery writer of her time, Agatha Christie.

"The Mousetrap," which has been playing continuously in London since its opening in 1952, will play Friday and Saturday evenings through February 20. White Oaks Theatre is located on Carmel Valley Road between the Tennis Ranch and the Hide-A-Way Motel. Directed by Tom Gruenewald, one of the most promising young directors in New York, the cast includes Tracy Carr, Ron Stokes, Ron Stark, Tonia Brandt, Don Laird, Mary Pattie, Kate Porter, and Ron Mitchell. The designs for the sets and lights have again been created by Joan Larkey.

Grace Tancill

Mrs. Grace L. Tancill, wife of Walter J. Tancill of Carmel Woods, died Monday in San Jose following hospitalization there.

In 1954, Mr. and Mrs. Tancill came to Carmel from St. Louis, Missouri, where Mrs. Tancill was born.

She is also survived by her daughter, Mrs. William Simpson of Hillsborough, and three grandchildren.

Family services were held yesterday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea in Pacific Grove. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

ALCOHOLISM COUNCIL ANNUAL MEETING

Dr. Harry Elkins, chief of staff of the Santa Clara County Alcoholism Clinic, and George Williams, chief rehabilitation officer of the Santa Clara County Sheriff's Department, will speak at the annual meeting of the Alcoholism Council of the Monterey Peninsula Tuesday noon at the Mark Thomas Inn.

Chaplain (Col.) Herman J. Kregel, executive director of the Claremont Theological Union of Berkeley will preside. Officers and directors will be elected at the luncheon meeting.

Members and non-members who wish to attend the annual luncheon are asked to call the council's

Attend Inauguration

For its population, Carmel seems to have had more than its share of invitations to yesterday's Presidential Inauguration. The Reverend Robert Morse, Rector of York School, and Mrs. Morse were in Washington this week for the ceremonies as guests of John Carl Warnecke, well known architect and designer of the memorial for the grave of President Kennedy. Mr. Warnecke also designed the buildings for the York School.

An invitation from the family of Vice President Humphrey brought Bain "Biff" Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Smith, to the capitol. Biff, now at Stanford, was a classmate of the Humphreys' son at the Shattuck Episcopal School for Boys in Fairbault, Minnesota.

Observer From Brussels

Professor Emil Lorimer of Brussels, Belgium, was here last Thursday as a guest of the international visitors committee of the World Affairs Council for a brief but thorough tour of the Peninsula. Dr. Lorimer is an administrator at a Brussels college which prepares teachers for the junior high school level. The State Department-sponsored program, encouraging foreign educators to observe our colleges, brought him here to visit teacher training institutions, and he has just completed three months of study in the midwest.

Enthralled by the beauty of the Peninsula, Dr. Lorimer complained of time spent in other and less interesting areas. "If I could afford it," he told his guides, "I would bring my wife and family to live here."

Summer Wedding

A summer wedding is being planned by Miss Whitney Chilton Lucas and Ronald Stolich, whose engagement was announced Monday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Lucas of Woodside. Ronald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Stolich of Pebble Beach.

Miss Lucas is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, while her fiancé attended school in Connecticut and earned his degree at the University of Arizona.

Yosemite Scout Camp

The 31st annual Winter Camp at Yosemite for the Monterey Bay Area Council of Boy Scouts was held on two successive weekends, with plenty of snow for winter sports.

Nineteen boys from Troop 86, sponsored by the American Legion Post of Carmel, attended the January 8-10 session. They were accompanied by adult volunteers and Scout Master Joe Ward. At the January 15-17 camp there were 17 boys from Troop 32, also accompanied by adults and their scout master, Kenneth Magee. This troop is sponsored by the Rotary Club.

According to Bill Lidderdale, assistant Scout executive and camp director, this year more than 580 scouts and explorers enjoyed the activities, which included ice skating, sledding and visits to the museum. A large number of the boys went to Badger Pass for skiing and instruction.

The most excitement, by far, was caused by the presence of more than six hungry bears ranging around the scouts' cabins at Camp Curry. Mr. Lidderdale was told that after the groups' departure the bears broke down doors of some the cabins, presumably in search of unemptied lunch bags.

Guild Pre-View Luncheon

Mrs. Folsom Niebel, president of the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the Symphony Guild, has announced that the guild's annual preview luncheon will be on February 2 at the Mark Thomas Inn.

Luncheon will begin promptly at 12:30, and will be followed by a discussion by Conductor John Goeling of the Symphony's February 9 program.

An honored guest at the luncheon will be Robert Tarbox, who will perform several piano selections. He is the recent winner of the Young Artist Auditions sponsored annually by the symphony in cooperation with the Junior League of the Monterey Peninsula.

Mrs. George Fletcher is in charge of luncheon arrangements. Reservations for the affair will close Saturday and can be made by calling Mrs. McCormac Bunting, 624-6657.

To Publish Book

Max Tadlock, Carmel resident and longtime member of the MPC faculty, is the author of a college workbook to be published by Houghton-Mifflin in March. The book, "Correcting Your English," is the first of a series of three. Also in preparation are a college reader and a speech textbook, Mr. Tadlock says.

Luncheon For Visitor

A small luncheon is being given today at the charming home of Mrs. John E. Abernethy, who is entertaining in honor of Mrs. Myrtle Overton of Seattle, currently the houseguest of Mrs. Sonia Brown. Following luncheon, the guests will enjoy an afternoon of bridge.

Lucky Dudley

While Carmelites were alternately battling their leaks or freezing, Dudley Nix was basking in the sun of the Virgin Islands and getting in a bit of tennis. Following a Christmas visit with his mother, Mrs. W. H. Nix, in New Orleans, Mr. Nix divided a month in the Caribbean between St. Thomas, St. Croix and Jamaica and returned home Saturday.

Women's Democratic Club

Ann (Mrs. Lionel) Alanson, chairman of Northern California women's division of the Democratic State Central Committee, will be the speaker at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Carmel Women's Democratic Club to be held at Sans Souci January 28 at noon. Her topic will be "Women in Political Action."

Addition For Kusters

Kent William is the name of the Colin Kusters' new son, who was born on January 9 in Salinas, where the Kusters now make their home. Kent has two brothers, Scott and Erich, and a sister, Jayanne.

Mrs. Edward G. Kuster, of Carmel Valley, is the new baby's grandmother, but he won't meet her until she returns from a world tour. His aunt is Mrs. Frederick (Marcia) Rider of Carmel.

Chico State Graduates

Graduates at the first midyear commencement ceremonies to be held at Chico State College are Paul Michael Jr., of Carmel and Charles M. Hoisington of Carmel Valley.

Paul, whose brother Peter will soon earn his "Golden Wings" as a Navy jet pilot, will receive his A.M. in psychology. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Michael, hope to be present at the ceremonies in Chico.

A B.S. in business administration will be awarded to Charles Hoisington, who will return to this area and "start from the bottom up" to become a building contractor. He is the son of the David B. Hoisingtons of Carmel Valley and has two sisters, Helen and Nancy.

Another Blue Ribbon

Red Shelagh of Killarney, a slightly wanton young lady known more familiarly in her neighborhood as plain Shelagh, was awarded first in her class at the Golden Gate Kennel Club dog show in San Francisco on Saturday. This brings to six the number of blue ribbons for her owner, Mary Arnold, who has also trained the Irish setter, Mary, daughter of Mrs. Helen Emmons Arnold, is in the ninth grade at Carmel Junior High.

While studies and working with Shelagh keep her pretty busy, Mary still finds time to ride horseback.

High Twelve Club

The next weekly luncheon meeting of the High Twelve Club will be held at Pine Inn on Monday. Guest speaker will be Deputy District Attorney Ralph Drummond of Monterey, whose topic will be "The Function of a District Attorney's Office."

CARMEL JUNIOR HIGH TO PRESENT PLAY

The Carmel Junior High School is giving "I Remember Mama," a warm family drama set in San Francisco in 1910. It is double-rolled, with a total cast of 40 students.

"I Remember Mama" opens at the Junior High in Room C14, with a matinee at 3:30 p.m. on January 29. Two night performances will be given on January 29 and 30, at 7:45 p.m. There will be another matinee on Sunday, January 31 at 3:30 p.m.

Golden Anniversary

Gladys and Homer C. Bolter chose to celebrate the 50 years that have passed since their marriage in Vacaville, California, on January 10, 1915, with a quiet family dinner in their home on January 9.

Most cherished gift was their reunion with their children and all of the grandchildren and great-grandchildren who could be here to offer congratulations and wish them happiness. Their son, Homer C. Bolter Jr., of Vacaville and their daughter Elsie (Mrs. Arnold Collier), of Dixon were here for the event.

The Bolters were regular visitors to Carmel prior to Mr. Bolter's retirement from his Vacaville insurance and real estate business in 1953, at which time they took up permanent residence in the Carmel house they had acquired in 1949.

Cleveland Amory Here

A nationally-known author, Cleveland Amory, met officers of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society, Monterey Peninsula Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and Sierra Club, also representative Peninsula residents, on January 9. The guests were invited to meet Mr. Amory by Howard H. Pattee of Carmel, a director of the California branch of the Humane Society of the United States. This organization sponsored Mr. Amory's appearance on the Peninsula.

Mr. Amory, a dedicated humanitarian and director of the Humane Society of the United States, is the author of "The Proper Bostonians," "Who Killed Society," also is a regular contributor to the "Saturday Review." He described to those at the gathering on Saturday the protective legislation for laboratory animals to be introduced in the 89th Congress.

Colonel Rees Retires

Upon his retirement after more than 23 years of active duty, Lieutenant Colonel Roger S. Rees, already holder of the Distinguished Service Cross and other service awards, received his third Army commendation medal. Colonel Rees, who was at Fort Ord, from 1958 to 1960, was with the U.S. Army Combat Developments Command Experimentation Center at the time of his retirement, and his prior record includes posts in Germany, Austria, Japan, Korea, Laos and Viet Nam as well as this country.

He and his wife, Anna Mae, will continue to live in their Carmel home, and Colonel Rees plans to teach on the Peninsula. Their son, Second Lieutenant Richard Rees, is at present serving in Germany.

Beagling, Anyone?

From Kilmacthomas, Ireland, Donnan Jeffers writes that while he and his wife, Lee, find it fun to follow the local hunt by auto, their son, Lindsay has taken up "Beagling."

Beagling, it appears, is similar to fox hunting, but the quarry becomes a hare; the hound, a beagle; and the chase is on foot. Donnan gathers that an essential part of the sport is to sit in a pub for hours discussing strategy.

The Jeffers report that, quite contrary to what they had expected in this part of Ireland, they have been swept up in an active social life. In spite of rain and cold, they are still enjoying the country tremendously.

Rusty Draper Report

The holiday greeting sent by Rusty and Macia Draper says they will be here for the Crosby Tournament. News of their children is that John and Judy are both married. Judy is now Mrs. Kenneth Reslick and lives in Fremont. John is married to the former Carol Richards and their home is in Concord. Rusty's singing engagements during 1965 will take him to South Dakota, Nebraska, Nevada, Mexico, Wyoming and British Columbia with two engagements in California.

The Drapers now have two homes, one in Reno and one on the Peninsula. They were in the latter home for Christmas for the first time in four years.

Our Busy Ansel

President Lyndon B. Johnson has been urged to make a federal project of saving the Golden Gate from land development in a telegram sent by the Committee to Save the Golden Gate. The committee has Photographer Ansel Adams of Carmel Highlands as a member. Mr. Adams is also a director of the Sierra Club. Basis for the telegram was the President's State of the Union message in which he hinted that federal aid should be forthcoming for safeguarding the beauty of America. A "planned community" zone is being considered for the area north of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Bowler From Columbus

Shortly before Christmas Mr. and Mrs. George Walker met her father, Leo L. King of Columbus, Ohio, upon his arrival at the airport and, not risking his protests, immediately whisked him off to Yosemite for a skiing trip. Mr. King's annual visit will terminate only when the notion strikes him, since the myriad activities of the busy Walker family long ago convinced him of the folly of making return reservations in advance.

Formerly an ardent bowler with an enviable record, Mr. King has had to forego his usual thrice-weekly play at the alleys. That he is still game to one more challenge was proven January 9, when Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Stephenson invited him to dinner and a brisk evening of bowling, all of which was complicated by the presence of four small Walkers and Twig Stephenson. Bob Stephenson reports he may just have to put in some practice to keep up with the visitor from Columbus.

Town House Program

"How to Know Antiques" will be the subject of a talk by Mrs. Evans-Barnard at the Carmel Foundation Town House on Wednesday at 3 p.m. The Girl Scouts will serve tea at the close of the program.

Piano duets will be presented by Miss Angie Machado and Frederick W. Schaad on January 31 from 2 to 4 p.m. Tea will be served at 4 p.m.

The Monterey Peninsula Garden Club will hold a meeting at the Town House tonight at 8 o'clock and will hear Mr. George McDowell, of Watsonville, speak on "Ferns and Succulents and Their Place in the Garden."

An invitation is extended to anyone interested in the program.

Recent Engagement

Dorothy Fritsche and David K. Fuller chose Christmas Eve to announce their engagement at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fritsche of Carmel Valley. Since Dorothy is in her senior year at Carmel High School and her fiancé in his junior year at California State Polytechnic College, they are making no definite plans for their future wedding.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Fuller of Carmel. His sister Chris, is a student at Carmel High, and his brother, Doug, is at Chico State College.

Dorothy's sisters are Mrs. Frank Mayo and Juanette Fritsche.

May I express to you the appreciation of all of our folk here at the church for your faithful coverage of programs and services here. We are grateful to you for using your space to carry our story to your subscribers.

We are alike appreciative of your handling of those pertinent issues which from time to time become important in the life of our community. We realize that it is not possible for any paper to always endorse the view which we might hold, but you have done a fine job of being fair and reasonable in your comments and coverage of civic matters here. Thanks for what you have done and may your next year be an even more meaningful one for you as you continue your policy.

Cordially yours,
L. K. Whitfield, Minister

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The way in which the immortality of life becomes a reality for every individual will be explored in the Lesson-Sermon at all Christian Science churches this Sunday. The subject is "Life," and it is special charge of $10 is made for behind-the-wheel driver training.

Classes will be limited to 15 students. Registration will be at the first class of the semester.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning the Carmel Adult School (624-1714) Monday through Thursday between the hours of 1 and 4 p.m., also in the evening from 7 until 10 p.m. Charles L. Dawson is principal of the Carmel Adult School.

keynoted by the Golden Text from Galatians (6:8): "He that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting."

The theme is amplified by this passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Being is holiness, harmony, immortality. It is already proved that a knowledge of this, even in small degree, will uplift the physical and moral standard of mortals, will increase longevity, will purify and elevate character. Thus progress will finally destroy all error, and bring immortality to light" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 492).

Carmel Music Society To Bring Teresa Berganza Here Tuesday

The Carmel Music Society will present Teresa Berganza, Spanish soprano, on Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in Sunset School auditorium.

Teresa Berganza was born in Madrid. She was trained by Lola Rodriguez de Aragon who was a pupil of Elizabeth Schumann. In 1954, not 20 years old, Miss Berganza won first prize at the Madrid Conservatory. As a result, she was presented in concert the next year. Since that time, her career has been meteoric. She has been acclaimed at Glyndebourne and Covent Garden in England, Aix-en-Provence in France, the Vienna State Opera, and in Dallas, Chicago, Boston and New York. She is a true mezzo-coloratura with a vocal range exceeding two and a half octaves.

Part I of her program here next week will include songs by Vivaldi, Purcell, Donizetti, Rossini, Debussy, Ravel, Milhaud and Poulenc.

The second part of her program will be devoted to Spanish songs by Nin, Guridi, Obradora, Lavilla and Falla.

Tickets for the Berganza concert may be obtained at the Graham Music Store, Mission and Sixth.

Adult School Will Present Series On Modern Education

The second semester of the Carmel Adult School will begin on February 1. A total of 35 classes will be offered in the fields of fine arts, business, citizenship, crafts, automobile driving, foreign languages, homemaking, industrial arts, literature and reading, mathematics and music.

In addition to the above instruction, the Carmel Adult School will present "Adventures In Education," a series of meetings sponsored by the Carmel Unified School District. This program is designed to acquaint the public with areas in modern education which are currently undergoing intensive exploration in other communities.

Tonight, Dr. Charles R. Keller

will be the speaker for the first of these meetings, all of which will be held in Sunset School auditorium at 8 p.m. His subject will be "Educational Catalyst."

On February 18, Dr. Abraham Fischer will discuss "A Modern Science Program in Grades K Through Twelve."

The third talk, on March 18, will be given by Dr. B. Frank Brown on "The Non-Graded High School."

Medill Bair, superintendent of the Carmel Unified School District will talk about "Team Teaching" on April 22.

There will be no charge for these meetings nor for the World Affairs Forums which will be held on Friday evenings at 8 p.m. in the Carmel High School music room. Topics and dates for the forums will be announced later.

A tuition fee of $5 will be charged to enroll in evening school classes. This fee allows the payer to take as many courses as wished. No tuition is charged for courses in citizenship and English For New Americans. An additional $3 model fee will be charged students taking life drawing instruction. A

MPC Registration For Evening Classes Starts January 25

The Spring, 1965, evening division semester at Monterey Peninsula College will open February 4 with an offering of over 80 lower division courses and ten upper division extension courses taught by almost as many instructors.

Continuing students—those who were enrolled at the beginning of the Fall, 1964, semester—may register from January 25 through 29, 7 to 9 p.m. in the administration building, according to Evening Dean John G. Schaub. All new students and continuing students who do not register during that period are to register Saturday, January 30, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., also in the administration building.

Courses will be offered in the fields of anthropology, art, aviation, business, business data processing, chemistry, construction technology, economics, electronics, engineering, English, foreign languages (Arabic, French, German, Japanese, Russian and Spanish), geography, geology, health, history, nutrition and obesity, journalism, landscape gardening, mathematics, medical assisting, music, oceanography, philosophy, photography, police science, political science, psychology, sociology and speech.

Among the new or revived offerings is the special short course on nutrition and obesity to be taught by Miss Mary Rile, home economics department chairman, and others. A revived course is Sculpture 27, instructed by Arch Garner.

Brochures listing classes are available at the college now.

OFFICERS' WIVES EVENTS

Wives of new students at the United States Naval Postgraduate School will be greeted by officials of the Officers' Wives Club at "Welcome Aboard Coffees" on the evenings of January 25 and 26 at 8 p.m. The events will be held in the Silk Horse Lounge of the school. New wives who may not have received invitations are asked to telephone Mrs. Ronald Jesberg at 394-1139.

Clara Todd

Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Todd, widow of the late John F. Todd, died at her home here on Saturday after a lengthy illness. Mrs. Todd, born in Kent County, Michigan, in 1884, had lived in Carmel for more than 33 years.

Residing in Carmel is her son, John D. Todd, and her grandchildren, Marcia, Gregory and Nancy Todd. She also leaves a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Dahleen of San Jose; a brother, Dr. Morton Hanna of Vancouver, B.C.; four other grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Inurnment took place in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea under the direction of Mission Mortuary. Private memorial services for Mrs. Todd were held at All Saints' Episcopal Church yesterday.

Dr. Perry Arnold

Perry Cornelius Arnold, D.D.S., was visiting his son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Mahoney, at the time of his death on January 14 in a local hospital. Dr. Arnold, who was born September 29, 1885, in Portland, North Dakota, made his home in McVillie, North Dakota.

Funeral services were held in McVillie, and followed by burial in the Community Cemetery there. The Mission Mortuary was in charge of local arrangements.

Friends wishing to make contributions in the memory of Dr. Arnold may do so to the Cardiology Research Equipment Department of the Community Hospital, Box 111, Carmel, or to the McVillie Lutheran Church.

William Daut

The death of William Frederick Daut occurred Sunday in a local hospital after a period of failing health. Mr. Daut and his wife, Lillian, were Carmel residents from 1946 until last year, when they moved to Carmel Valley.

Mr. Daut, born in St. Louis, Missouri, on May 26, 1880, previously lived in Seattle, Washington, and San Carlos, California. In addition to his wife, he is survived by a brother, Harry Daut of St. Louis, Missouri; a daughter, Mrs. John H. Clawson of Anchorage, Alaska; a son, Dr. William F. Daut Jr., of Spokane, Washington; and three grandchildren.

The Carmel Masonic Lodge awarded him his 50-year pin in 1963; he was a charter member and past master of Constellation Lodge No. 266, F.&A.M. of Seattle.

Services in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea were held Tuesday, with the Reverend David Hill of All Saints' Episcopal Church officiating. Concluding services in El Carmelo Cemetery were conducted by Carmel Lodge No. 680, F.&A.M. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Those wishing to make contributions in the memory of Mr. Daut may do so to the All Saints' Day School, Box 1296, Carmel.

Effa Spencer

Miss Effa H. Spencer, 84, a Carmel resident for over 30 years, died at her Carmel Valley home on Saturday. She was a native of Gloversville, N.Y.

She will be remembered for her interest in social work and, particularly, for her activities on behalf of the Community Chest.

Edgar A. Spencer of Weston, Massachusetts, is her nephew. Her second cousin, Mrs. Barbara Kelly, lives in Mill Valley.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements for family services in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

WHAT'S DOING?

Just about everyone has heard or read stories about telephone Operators helping avert disasters, saving lives and property. But, it's the little things that really show the scope of the Operators' helpfulness—like the three teenage boys who called an Operator to find out how to make French toast (and were told)... or the Operator who helped an Air Force Chaplain locate an airman's father who was in an unknown hospital. It happens every day. Your telephone Operator is more than a helper—she's a friend.

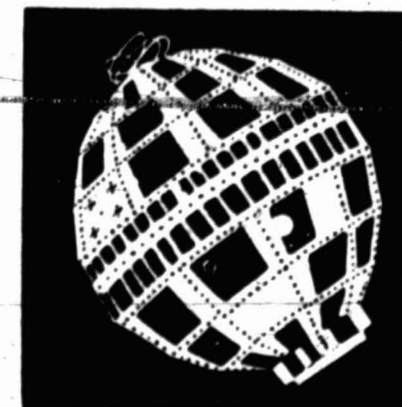

We would like to remind you to support the 24th Annual Bing Crosby Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament. Remember, all the proceeds go to charity.

Did you know that our telephone engineers use cosmetics, of all things, to help keep phones working right? For instance, rouge to polish fine metal parts, toothpaste to clean switchboards, orangewood stick to probe electronic equipment, and a primary ingredient of lipstick is used as a lubricant. Whatever it takes, good service for you is our goal.

I've heard that the average person uses a telephone 2,760 hours in his lifetime. No doubt about it, telephoning is an important part of living!

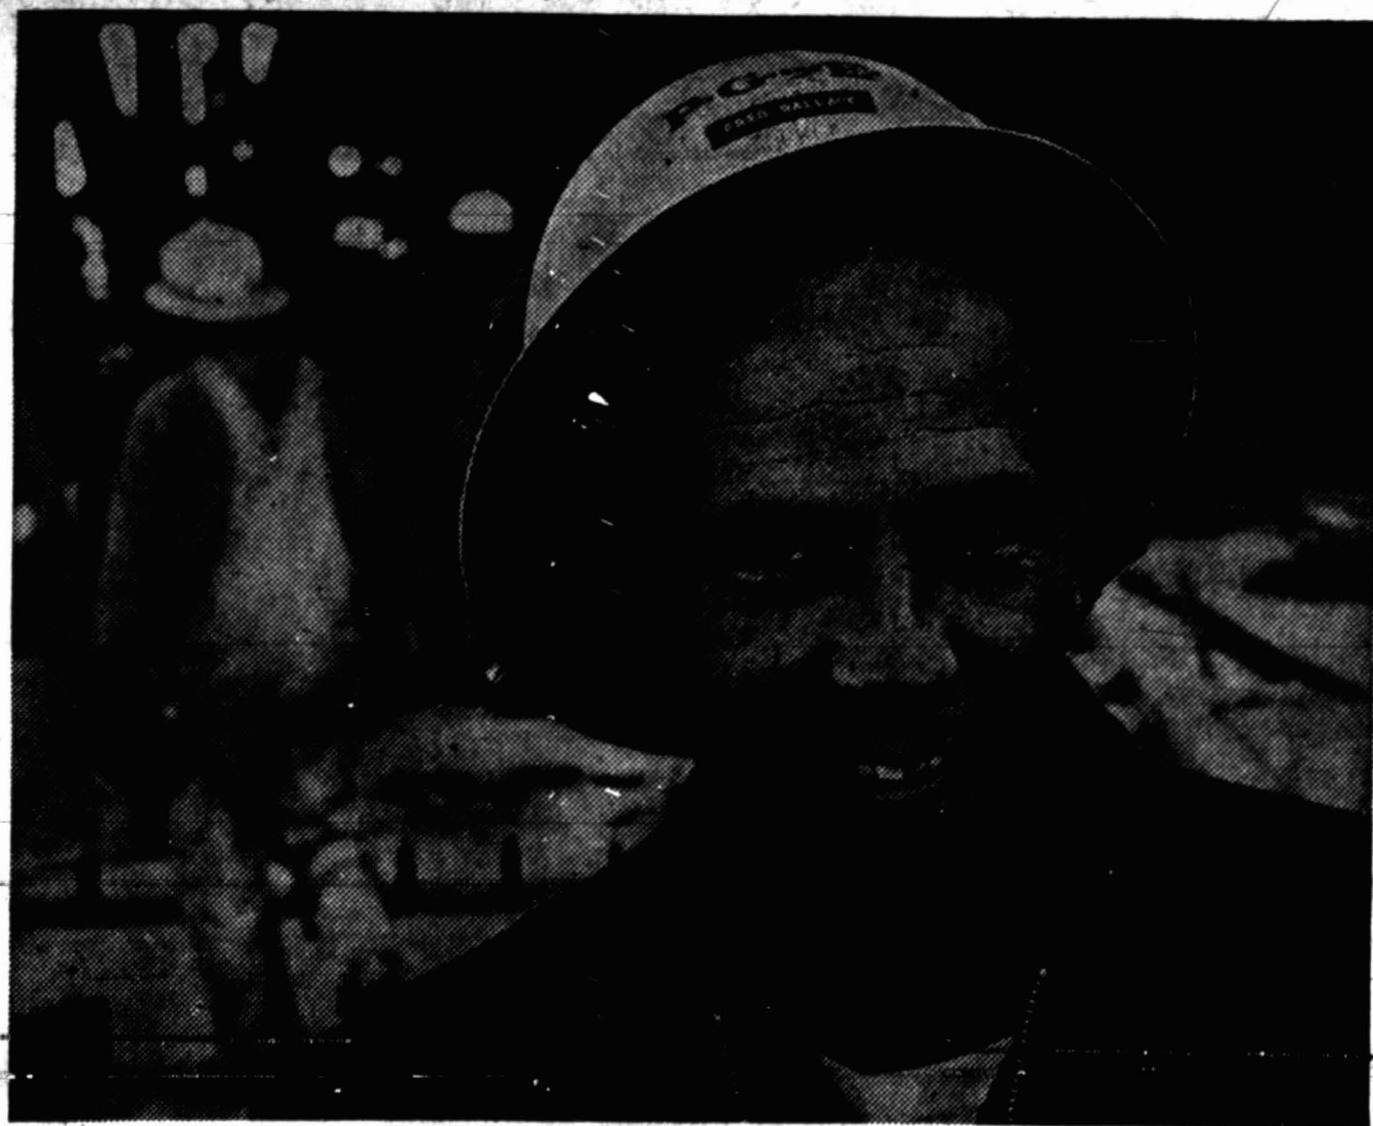

Each year we see many communication changes. And last year was no exception. There was the first underseas telephone cable between America and Asia. And live global television via Telstar II. Also Picturephone see-as-you-talk experimental service between three cities. Sure, it was a big year. But you know, telephone people prefer to look ahead—which means continuing to bring you even better service in 1965.

7600 men are working on PG&E construction jobs today and every day.

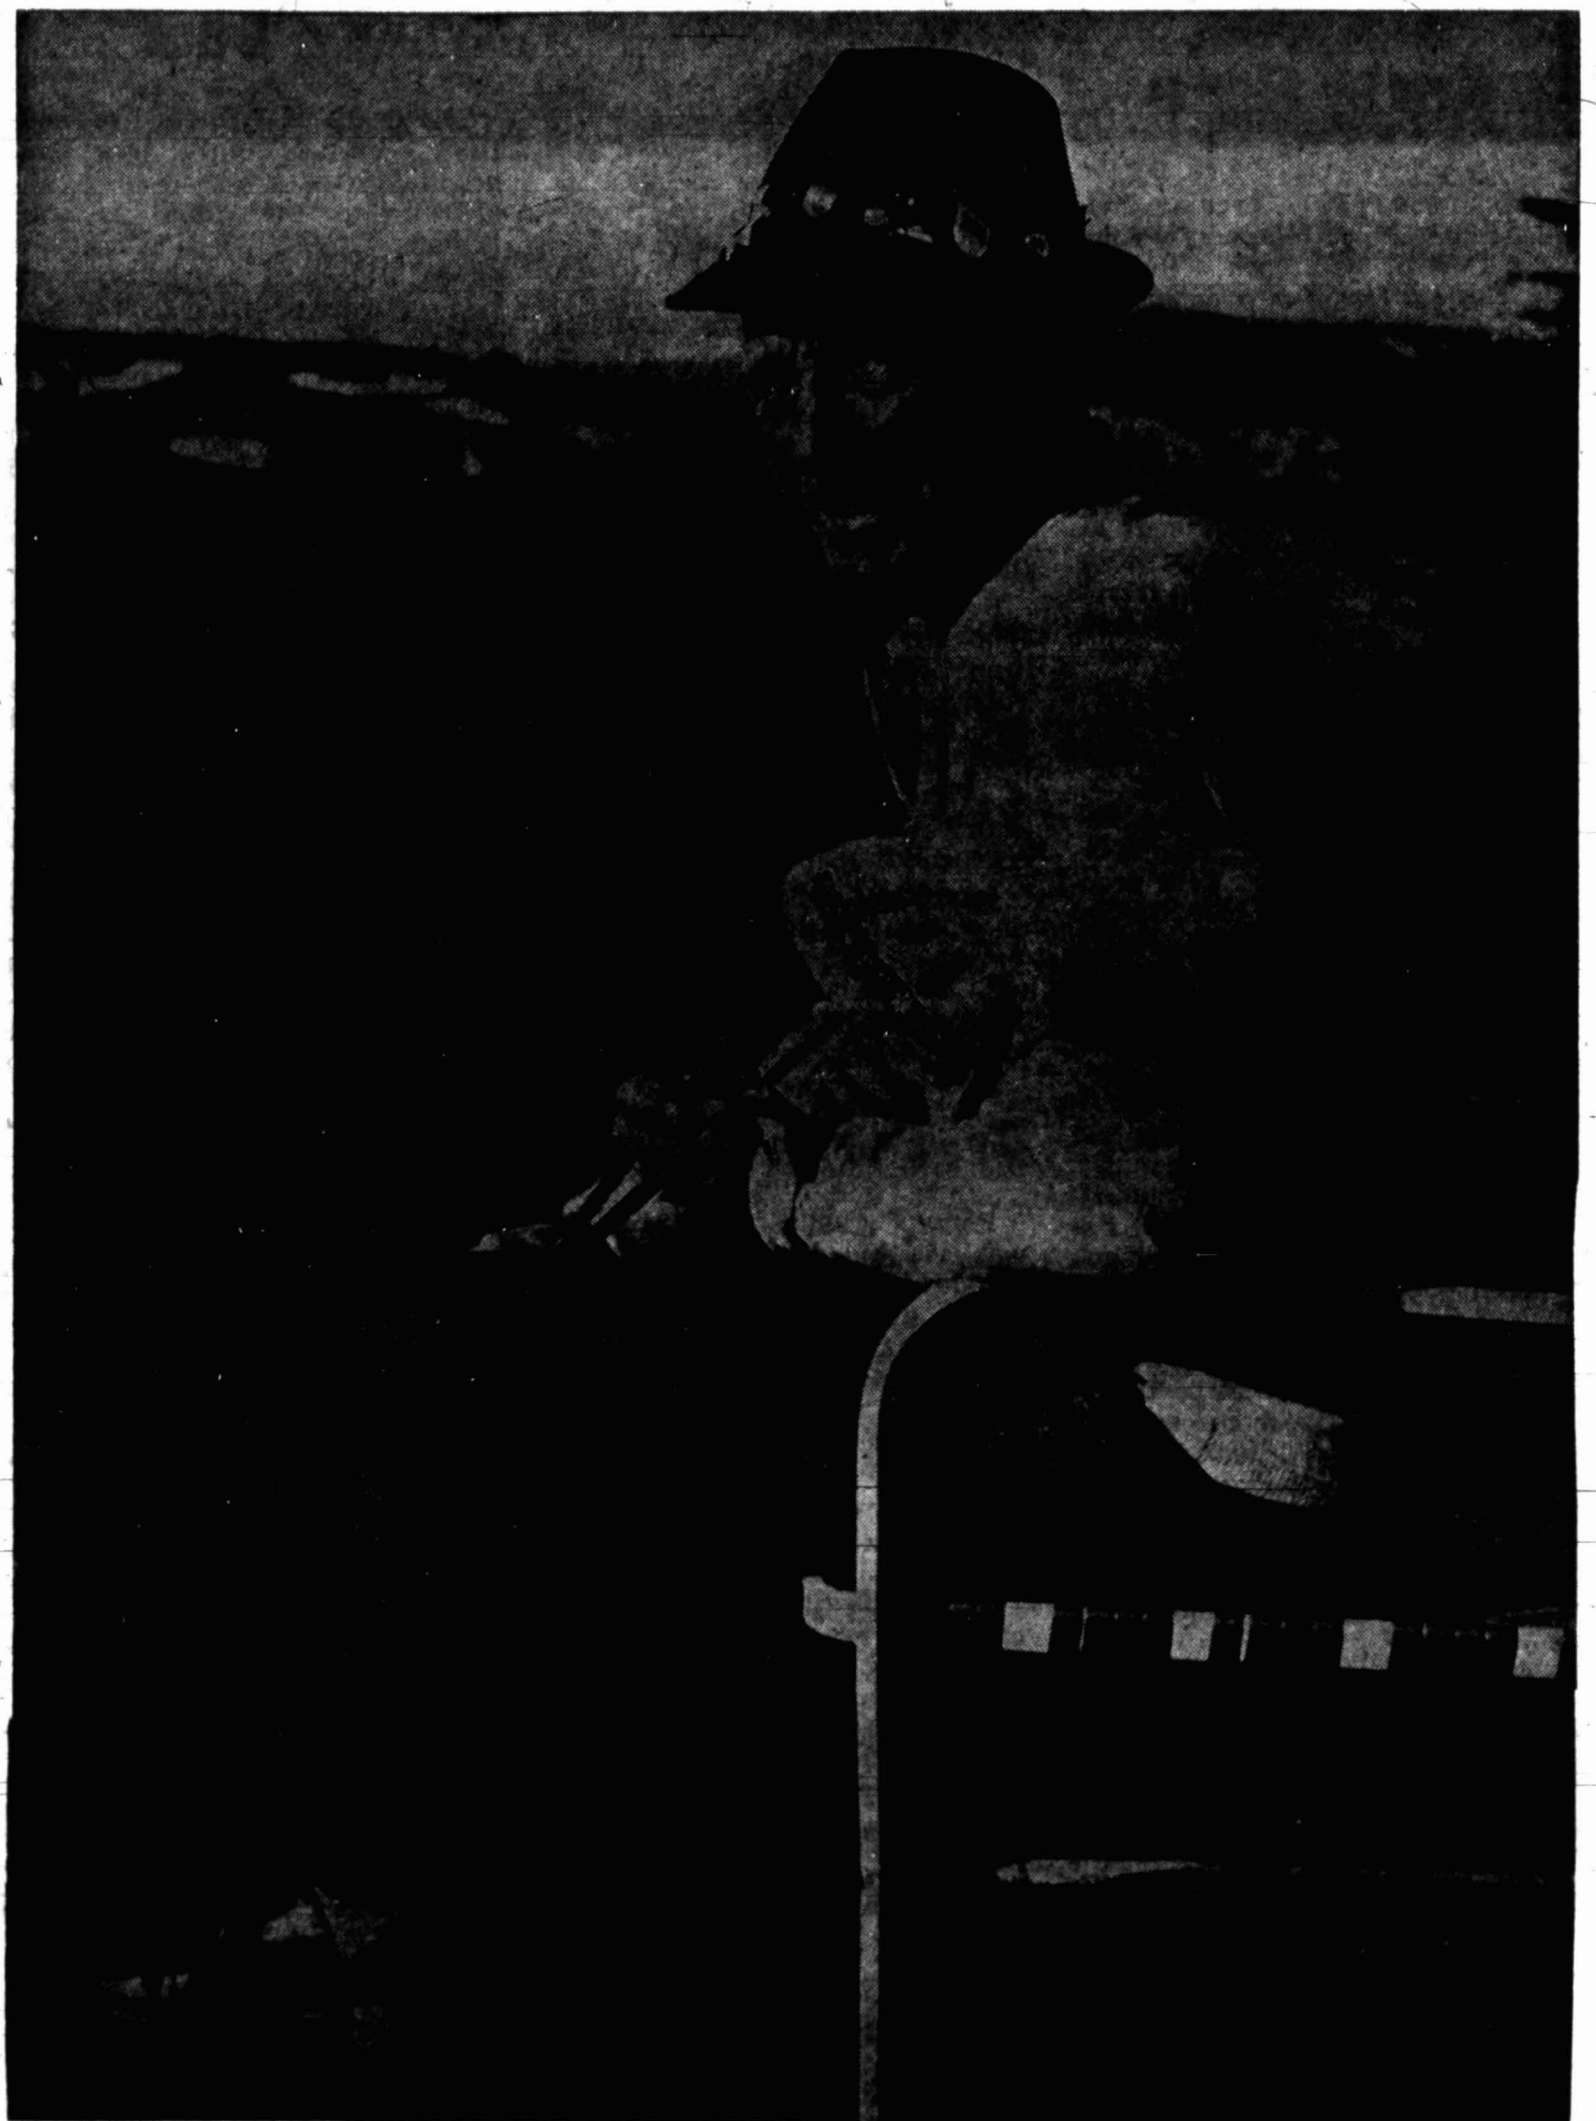

Every working day this year, 7600 men and more than a million dollars go to work on new construction to serve PG&E customers. That many men will work all year long at jobs supported by PG&E's $275 million expansion program for 1965. That amount of money, invested every day in new equipment and materials, as well as in payrolls, becomes a valuable part of the whole state's economy. Of course, all this new construction doesn't slow us down one bit in performing our biggest job, around the clock, supplying millions of Californians with the gas and electricity they need.

Local Travelers Back Home After Unique Camping And Raft Trip In Mexico North Of Puerto Vallarta

In the world of cliches, travelers are invariably "intrepid," and intrepid certainly is the word to describe Mrs. Henriette Millard, Miss Bessie Irvin and Miss Dorothy Caton. They returned on January 9 from an unusual, perhaps unique, tour of Mexico, where their various forms of transportation included special station wagon, raft, boat, airplane, and, their feet. Hotels alternated with camping on tropical beaches whose names you won't find on your maps.

Christmas found the trio in Puerto Vallarta to rendezvous with other members of the group and await completion of the next transportation—a raft of hinged floorboards mounted on four huge rubber pontoons which rode the waves with all the grace of a floundering duck. It proved to be more seaworthy than it appeared, and the next day they embarked to cross Banderas Bay for the first stop, Piedra Blanca with its expanse of lovely tropical beach and bay of crystal-clear waters. There the station wagon met them with all gear necessary for an overnight camp.

On the second day the crude craft followed the coastline west to Punta Mita, the cape guarding the entrance to Banderas Bay. The trip around this point into the open Pacific gave everyone a thrilling and sometimes apprehensive reminder of Kon Tiki until the raft reached the relative shelter of the bay at Sahyulita. There, near a rock island, Mrs. Millard made her first attempt with a snorkel. She is still so enchanted by the beauty of the underwater world, she says, that she can't understand why everyone doesn't take up snorkeling.

Also at Sahyulita occurred the only near mishap of the trip. Several people strolled from the beach camp to the village, just before sunset, and neglected to take flashlights. Returning in the dark, they took a wrong turn and became hopelessly lost in the surrounding jungle; fortunately, the night was warm and the stragglers turned up unharmed the next morning.

The raft continued north, putting in for exploration of coastal beaches and camping at the settlements of Lo de-Marco and La Penita. At the latter, the group once again took to station wagon for the drive to Mazatlan and from there a plane to La Paz, Baja California. Four days were spent in this arid section of Mexico, including a visit to the Pacific side at Todos Santos, Arroyo San Lucas with its beautiful oasis, and a glimpse of the luxury resort hotels near Cape San Lucas at the very tip of Baja.

A small boat—much to small, according to Mrs. Millard—then took them from La Paz to Topolobampo on the mainland. After a night's rest in nearby Los Mochis, the companions returned home via auto.

While the trip afforded vistas of constantly changing landscape, they were impressed most by the incredibly blue-green sea and the intense, brilliant color of the luxuriant coastal vegetation in the area between Puerto Vallarta and La Penita. The three women were also surprised to find the natives of that region so healthy and obviously well nourished.

Honor Band Concert At Sunset This Year

The annual Honor Band Concert will be held this year in Carmel in Sunset School auditorium at 8:00 p.m. on January 30. This band is made up of high school students from Santa Cruz, San Benito, and Monterey counties and is sponsored by this area's section of the California Music Educators organization.

The guest director this year will be William Schaefer from the University of Southern California. Mr. Schaefer is director of the famous Trojan Concert Band and as such has been instrumental in producing important new compositions for band performance. His band has just previewed a new work for band by Aaron Copland.

The honor band membership was selected by try-outs held in November. Members of the band from the Carmel High School are Larry Hearn, flute; Dave Schetter and Shawn Folsom, clarinet; and Dave Erickson, baritone.

The public is invited to the concert. There is a $1.00 admission charge to defray expenses. Students will be admitted for 50 cents at the door.

Faculty Supports MPC Bond Issue

The Faculty Association of Monterey Peninsula College has voted unanimously to endorse "with enthusiasm" the $4,712,000 bond issue which goes before Peninsula voters on February 16.

The 89-member association, which includes all teaching faculty and administrators, has pledged "everything in our power to make sure the voters understand the urgency of a 'yes' vote," according to MPCFA President Ruth van Vlaardingen.

"We're proud of the master plan on which the bond issue is based," Miss vanVlaardingen said. "It's the result of more than two years of careful planning by a faculty-administration committee which put in hundreds of hours with the wonderfully creative team furnished by the college's architectural firm, Keeble and Rhoda."

Pointing out that most members of the faculty own homes on the Monterey Peninsula, Miss vanVlaardingen, a veteran of MPC's counseling staff, said, "We believe the $5 or $10 that will be added to each member's property tax bill is a small price for the advantages the building program will bring the whole community and its youth."

New Zealand Educator Says Kurt von Meier Was 'An Inspiration'

BY CAROLYN ELSTOB

An eminent educator, now retired after 42 years of teaching in Auckland, New Zealand, Mrs. Kingsley Chapple (above) has been the houseguest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Louis Mayer, for the past month.

A second generation New Zealander, whose grandparents went from England to live 'down under,' Winifred Partridge was educated at the University of Canterbury.

During her undergraduate years she was an enthusiastic athlete and winner of championship honors in both golf and tennis in university tournaments. But the young student's major interest was in education, and, after two years of college she was appointed to teach for two years in the country district of the South Island.

A college romance ended happily when, upon her return to Canterbury, Winifred Partridge married Kingsley Chapple, a Canterbury graduate and brother of Carmel's Dora Mayer (Dora Hagemeyer).

The young Chapples were ideally suited. Their mutual interest, the education of adolescents, focused upon teaching young Maoris, the native children of New Zealand.

With Kingsley as headmaster and Mrs. Chapple as infant mistress, the Chapples' Te Matai School flourished for 20 years.

As the term "infant mistress" is not used in United States, Mrs. Chapple explained that it refers to the teacher of children five to seven years of age. The entire student body of the Te Matai School was composed of Maori children.

"Our school was in the country district where, for most part, the pupils worked on the land," Mrs. Chapple told. "The youngsters were eager to learn; they had no feeling of racial inferiority and eagerly absorbed all that we taught. They have a natural talent for their native arts and crafts which we encouraged, along with practical studies.

"Even four decades ago there was racial accord between the European-born citizens of New Zealand and the native Maoris. In a number of cases students in our school went on to colleges and universities on scholarships and grants. As professionals—doctors, lawyers, scientists and teachers—they are accepted without question. The racial prejudice and persecution that I have heard so much about here is unknown 'down under.'"

In 1949 the Chapples transferred to the Rotorua School in the Auckland Province.

It was in 1952 that Mrs. Chapple was appointed head teacher of the Wilson Home, a residential hospital for crippled children, dealing with age groups from a few months to 15 years.

"The challenge there was the greatest of my life," Mrs. Chapple said. "Many of the babies brought to us were incurably crippled and handicapped. My task was to fit them in some manner to cope with the economic world by training their minds, building their morale and courage. While often there was heartbreak, there were rewards too."

Through the years Winifred and Kingsley Chapple had five children.

ren. All have gained high status in their chosen professions. James, the eldest, followed in the footsteps of his parents and is teaching. Joycelyn is a painter, exhibiting in New Zealand's leading galleries. Joan is a plastic surgeon. Appointed by the Auckland hospital, she has just completed a two-year survey of hospitals in Europe and the United States, and their methods in her specialization. John is a civil engineer and Jefferson the youngest of the family, is studying architecture.

Kingsley Chapple died a year ago, and Mrs. Chapple, although "retired," gives some time to private coaching on university and college levels.

"And this is my first trip to the United States," Mrs. Chapple smiled, "I decided less than two months ago to come, not to sight-see, but to see my sisters-in-law and friends here on the west coast. My doctor daughter and I will sail back to New Zealand on January 27.

"I have visited Yosemite, and I greatly enjoyed San Francisco... I find Americans exciting and extremely friendly. I haven't really observed your schools in action, but I do think that there is a difference in teaching systems.

"English and New Zealand children start their studies earlier in life than American children. For the most part I think that our children gain self reliance at a younger age and are emotionally more controlled.

"Americans are really not strangers to us," she continued. "We had a most popular ambassador of goodwill on the Auckland University campus for some years—and he was from Carmel!"

"Kurt von Meier, a brilliant teacher of art, irrepressibly enthusiastic and friendly, was an inspiration to his students and universally admired by the university faculty.

"My great regret is that he is on the other side of the United States, teaching at Princeton, and I haven't been able to chat with him. But I have had the good fortune to meet his mother, Mrs. Julian von Meier. We had a topic of conversation that delighted us both!"

The visitor from New Zealand left Carmel happily laden with what she termed "fantastically amusing" American toys for her eight grandchildren, three of whom belong to James; four to Joycelyn and one to John.

DOUBLE LUCK

Friends of Mrs. Robert Grady, the former Mary Ann O'Dell, will be interested to know that she is the mother of twins, Kate and Paul, who were born in San Francisco on October 22. Their brother, Owen, is two years old. Mary Ann's mother, Mrs. Henry E. O'Dell of Carmel Point, travels as often as possible to San Francisco to give an assist in the household and enjoy her grandchildren.

Douglas Tellwright To Head Blood Program In Carmel

Carl Bosholm, chairman of the Carmel Red Cross Chapter, will announce the appointment of a new blood program chairman to the board of directors at their meeting this afternoon. He is Douglas Tellwright who will relieve Miss Helen Heavey, twice called upon to head the program. Miss Heavey is the vice chairman of the four-county Regional Coordinating Council made up of representatives of the 11 chapters of the four-county region and is also on the finance committee for the region.

Mr. Tellwright has an impressive background of civic and organizational experience. He has been a part-time resident of Carmel for seven years and a full-time resident for the past four years. He came here from San Francisco where he was long associated with the Red Cross. Some of his other civic activities were with the Bay Area Crusade of which he is past president and with the board of the Presbyterian Hospital. This last position he still retains. Mr.

Airman Bruce H. Hyndman, grandson of Mrs. Ethel L. Fuller of Carmel, has been selected for technical training as an air policeman at Lackland AFB, Texas.

He enlisted in the Air Force a short time ago and has just completed his basic military training. Airman Hyndman, a 1962 graduate of Carmel High School, received his associate of science degree from Monterey Peninsula College in 1964.

Tellwright is a former public relations and marketing expert.

'The Miracle Worker' Skilfully Performed At Circle Theatre

BY LLOYD JENKINS

"The Miracle Worker," a powerful play by William Gibson, had its initial performance last Friday at the Golden-Bough Circle Theatre.

A predominately youthful audience showed warranted enthusiasm for this emotionally stirring stage fare. They also tittered with nervous restraint at the comic intervals deftly inserted for tension release.

"The Miracle Worker" is a most demanding vehicle with requirements that defy the imagination but which most certainly inspired Circle performers to rise skilfully to their task. In totality, cast, director and technical assistants are to be commended.

The Helen Keller legend is public domain, yet playwright Gibson chose to eulogize the initial meeting with her equally famous tutor, Annie Sullivan.

Herein lie the basic elements for plot . . . Annie, the young woman with handicapped vision and a miserably sordid upbringing but with inbred strength and proud determination . . . then the child, Helen Keller, at the outset an animal-like, sightless mute . . . fiercely autocratic, abetted by family disdain and pity. Yet, who had lurking behind those sightless eyes, a sly, untapped and resourceful mind.

The pace of the drama initiates with Annie's arrival at Tusculum, Alabama, station and the ensuing confrontation with the undisciplined, pathetic "creature" that is Helen.

Rick Beck-Meyer ingeniously designed the settings that audaciously accomplished impressions of approximately ten separate scenes including a homestead, an institute for the blind, summer house and station within the confines of the Circle stage.

Director Nick Zanides skilfully manipulated the set design for its most utilization, greatest force and motivation. Meanwhile, doubling-in-beard, his portrayal of the kindly Anagnos, mentor of Annie Sullivan, was flawless.

The well-rehearsed cast showed few first-night imperfections except early entrances on several occasions while preceding scenes were still in progress.

Two more arduous roles for young women than those of Annie and Helen, emotionally as well as physically, cannot readily come to this reviewer's memory. The more impressive revelation is the exacting collaboration of talent with which these roles are achieved by Nina Swan (Helen Keller) and Rosamund Goodrich (Annie Sullivan).

The youthful Nina Swan, as Helen Keller, merited special plaudits for a richly sustained pretense of wide-eyed sightlessness. Her portrayal justly deserved the sustained applause it received.

Theatre patrons are indeed fortunate that talented Rosamund Goodrich was available to handle the gruelling, pivotal role of Annie Sullivan. She met this challenge with finesse in all shadings and nuances. Her Irish tenacity, softly brogued, gently tugged at the heart through despair, opposition and triumph. The hand-to-hand combat scene with her arrogant pupil was judiciously applauded for physical prowess and expert timing from both combatants.

The supporting characterizations were finely drawn and efficiently cast. Duke Everts as Mr. Keller demonstrated his long experience with fragile subtleties that mark the professional performer. An apparent huskiness of voice was surmounted but his demeanor and dialect was impaired somewhat, due to haste, in the fiery duologue with his stepson. The scene provoked anxiety vocally but was not matched with mobility.

The stepson, James, played by Keith Decker was handled with confidence and clarity. Layne Littlepage, in the sympathetic role of Helen's mother, was pathetically tugged by domineering forces from within and without and handled the vocal concepts to perfection.

Florence Larsen, as Aunt Ev, was the "wisteria-magnolia" Southern mansion influence with a solidly demure fragility and the right comedy blend.

Sarah Ector, as Viney, typified the hefty endowments of good cooking, also the Negro spiritual plus happy mother hen, and was delightfully picturesque.

Viney's little charge, Percy, a bright youngster in the person of Robert Savere, was Helen's most relaxed playmate, performing with confidence to an appreciative audience.

Reed Putnam, as a doctor, made his brief appearance effective but his more demanding light maneuvering was an exacting display of competence.

An opening sequence of blind girls at the institution, come to bid Annie farewell, was poignant and poised with effective concentration on supposed sightlessness.

This charming bevy of youngsters included Lynn Hirschkind, Regan Beck-Meyer, Dawn Beck-Meyer, Glynis Beck-Meyer and Sandi Dicksen.

The period of the play, the 1880's, is authentically costumed by Marge Hirschkind and staff. The sound effects are expertly handled by Charles Putnam and add appreciatively to enhance the imagination.

Performances of "The Miracle Worker" will be presented on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights at 8:30 through February 28 at the Circle.

FREE MPO FILM

"The Given Word," also known as "Keeper of Promises," will be screened twice—at 7 and 9 p.m.—in the Monterey Peninsula College Music Hall tomorrow. No admission is charged.

Made in the poverty-stricken State of Bahia, Brazil, in 1962, "The Given Word" is a symbolic study of human motivation which traces the fate of one totally unselfish man in a world that refuses to care.

The film won the Golden Palm Award for Best Film at the Cannes International Film Festival and Best Film Award at the San Francisco International Film Festival, both in 1962.

BOOKMOBILE SCHEDULE

On alternate weeks, the Monterey County Library Bookmobile will be stationed in areas near Carmel. Up-to-date books for adults and children may be borrowed after a library card is issued. This card entitles a borrower to obtain books from state and other libraries if the volumes desired are not available in the county collection.

The bookmobile, on Tuesday and every other Tuesday thereafter, will be at Flanders Drive and Ward Place, 1-1:30 p.m.; Morse and Flanders, 1:45-2:40 p.m.; Atherton and Taylor, 2:45-4 p.m. The bookmobile will visit Carmel Woods on Wednesday and every other Wednesday thereafter, 10:30-11:45 a.m. It will be at Camino Real and 15th from 1-2:30 p.m. and at Rio and Oliver roads, 2:45-4 p.m.

Norberg Proposes City Law To End 'Muzzling' Of Councilmen

Proposed at next month's city council meeting will be an amendment to the municipal code that will allow a councilman who has placed a proposal on the council agenda to discuss this proposal before it is tabled.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg is presenting the proposed amendment. During the January 6 council meeting, Mr. Norberg had a proposal of his tabled before he could discuss it. The proposal, on the agenda, was entitled "Deeding of Trees On Private Property."

Mayor Herbert Blanks, according to council procedure, had referred the matter to the council's committee on lands and improvements, composed of Councilmen Stephen Grant and James C. Buffington, for study and report. At the council meeting, Mr. Buffington said no background for the proposal had been presented to the committee although Mr. Norberg had been asked for such information.

Mr. Grant remarked that he did not like to have committee work done on city council time. Therefore, as no background and no thought on the matter had been presented to the committee, he moved that Mr. Norberg's proposal be tabled. By a 3-2 vote the motion to table was passed with Mr. Norberg and Councilman Eben Whittlesey voting against it.

The vote to table prevented Mr. Norberg from discussing his proposal. The approval of the motion further precluded discussion.

In a written report for the council next month, Mr. Norberg states that the proposal which was tabled concerned "possible preservation of significant parts of the urban forest now under city control."

Yesterday, Mr. Norberg told the Pine Cone that, in a telephone conversation, Mr. Grant asked him for a written report on the tree proposal. Mr. Norberg then explained to Mr. Grant what his proposal encompassed and promised he would make a written report if he had time.

However, Mr. Norberg had "no free time" to write the report before the council meeting, he said yesterday.

Also yesterday, Mr. Norberg reported that he had discussed his proposal with City Attorney John Morse some weeks before he placed the matter on the agenda of the January council meeting. At this meeting he had hoped, he said, to find out from Mr. Morse if the city could legally be deeded trees on private property but the tabling of his proposal precluded any such opinion.

The rules of order and committee procedure under which the council operates, Mr. Norberg states in his written report proposing amendment of the municipal code, "do aid in the handling of many easily classified matters which come to the council's attention, but these rules and these procedures should not have the side-effect of muzzling any councilman seeking to have a proposal heard and discussed."

To prevent any such future "muzzling," Mr. Norberg is proposing that the municipal code be amended as follows:

1. "Matters referred to the council, together with a report of findings and recommendations, by an individual councilman or by one of the commissions of the city, need not be referred to committee."

2. "No motion to table any councilman's proposal shall be recognized unless and until that councilman has been heard upon his proposal by the city council in regular, adjourned or special session."

Under the committee system under which the council operates, any matter placed on the agenda is referred by the Mayor to an appropriate committee, together with written findings and regulations on the matter.

At the following council meeting, the committee to which the matter has been referred may recommend either adoption, rejection, continuance or tabling of the matter.

Better Half."

Oh, well, when you're a big man like Don . . . !

Oil on the brakes of writer Bob Carney's bike a few days ago caused him to go shooting down Ocean Avenue like a rocket. He hit the dunes and sailed right over the top of his handlebars.

"Wow!" applauded a teenage beachcomber, "with you around who needs airplanes!"

When the fifth and sixth grades move in with the junior high next fall, that school will need a new name. All sorts of suggestions have been made to the school board, the most waggish being Halfway House, but I suppose it will long continue to be thought of lovingly as Artichoke High. A Name The School contest is now on among the students themselves.

Principal Warren Edwards is also seeking a name for the large group teaching facility now nearly completed at the high school. Its present nickname, Warren's Warehouse, isn't considered dignified enough for posterity.

Which reminds me, Steve Sassoon is upset about there being no required art course at the high school, so upset, in fact, that he could hardly talk straight at the school board meeting last week.

"They really should have it," he explained, "because this is the last time in many pupils' lives that they'll be subjected to art."

Hey, all you guys. Somebody over there really loves you. Take your moms to the parking lot behind Coast Counties Title Company in Monterey and let her see for herself. They've got a big billboard there that says, "LET HIM SKIP HIS BATH TONIGHT. A Public Service for Little Boys."

Salgo To Audition For Bach Festival Chorus On Saturday

On Saturday, Sandor Salgo will be in Carmel to audition for the 1965 Bach Festival Chorus. Previous members of the chorus and new singers are asked to phone the Festival office (624-3437) for appointment. The auditions will be held in the music room at Carmel High School and rehearsals will be held every Tuesday night starting February 16. Festival dates are July 16 through 25.

Vocalists, both male and female, with a good background in choral singing are invited to audition. Mr. Salgo will also audition in-

The 1965 Festival celebrates Mr. Salgo's tenth anniversary as director and conductor and an interesting program is in preparation. The principal choral works to be performed are the Passion according to St. Matthew in its entirety, the Magnificat in D major, and Cantata No. 1, "Wie Schon leuchtet der Morgenstern."

Kenneth Ahrens will conduct the chorus as assistant to Mr. Salgo.

STATE FUNDS FOR CARMEL

Carmel's share of revenue from state motor vehicle license fees issued between June 1 - November 30, 1964, amounts to $2,143.58. State Controller Alan Cranston announced last Thursday. This apportionment was based on Carmel's 4,580 population figure.

If you're unhappy about the coming hike in garbage collection fees—and you happen to be acquainted with a 32-gallon capacity hog—you should line up with Councilman Eben Whittlesey. He asked the city council if it would consider "porcine live receptacles" in place of the minimum requirement 32-gallon can.

The garbage rate change is set for the first of April, so maybe he was just fooling.

After the Junior League sponsored concert last Saturday, during which conductor John Gosling led the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra in a perfectly delightful rendition of "The Carnival of the Animals," my home-ward-bound passengers invented a new game. They amused themselves half to death casting a live production of the Saint Saens' opus from people they know.

"And hey," squealed one of them, "that guy that stood out in front of the band, he could be the baby goose."

People who came to Carmel after 1940 are newcomers to Toby Street, and newcomers in the public eye are carpetbaggers.

"See, there goes another one," he said, as his wife, Claudia, went up to receive an award at the Community Chest dinner Tuesday night. "Oops, guess not. Wrong direction," he amended.

Claudia's from the south.

Fishing season opened a couple of weeks ago for steelhead, so Carl Moll is busy again at his annual volunteer job of starting junior fishermen out right. Many a young Izaak Walton would not now have tasted the thrilling succulence of his own catch had ex-fosterer Carl not shown him how to hold his pole.

Don Berry, Carmel's good-looking, approximately six foot four, 240 pounder is getting to be a real celebrity. Had his picture in the paper this week as a new Peninsula Chamber of Commerce member and last week his name appeared on the plumber's bag in client Bob Barnes' cartoon, "The

ONLY ONE BLOCK TO THE POST OFFICE and 2 blocks to Ocean Avenue shopping—in fact, right in the MIDDLE of Carmel, is a home fresh on the market. It's an older but cozy home with 2 bedrooms and 2 nice baths. Pluses are: a connected storeroom (another bedroom and bath?), a dining area, a sundeck and enough yard for gardening if you wish. It's offered at $32,500 and the owner has already purchased so wants to sell.

DO YOU WANT TO "TRY CARMEL OUT" FIRST? Would you like to rent for awhile before buying? If so, we have two quality houses to offer.

ONE IS COMPLETELY AND BEAUTIFULLY FURNISHED, has 2 bedrooms and 2 baths. It's located on an acre site and the views are magnificent! Available at $350 per month for 6 months or more.

THE OTHER IS VERY CLOSE IN TO CARMEL SHOPS, has 3 bedrooms, 3 baths and a kitchen with colored built-ins. Unfurnished except for carpeting and refrigerator. For lease at $250 per month for a year or more.

Wells Fargo Bank's Carmel office will move to new quarters one block from its present location before the end of the year, according to Thomas L. Craig, vice president and manager.

The new structure will be built on a 100 by 120 foot lot on the east side of San Carlos Street below Ocean Avenue.

Plans for the new building are currently in the working stages, Mr. Craig says. Designed by architect Olof Dahlstrand of Carmel, the modern, open building will combine sheer glass with concrete walls and columns. Ceramic tile panels will be under the windows.

Two walk-up windows will be located under a covered walkway on the side of the bank facing the parking area. Provision will be made for an additional six to be opened as needed.

Parking will be provided for 12 cars. A night depository will be next to the main entrance. Extensive landscaping will be done both around the bank itself and in the parking lot.

City Planners Favor Temporary City Hall At Sunset School

Fourth; that the council should make a survey of the Carmel area to find a permanent site for the municipal corporation yard; the police station should be located on the Junipero property and the present police station site be sold to help finance some of the proposed development of the civic center; and that, if the city hall site is not used for a municipal parking lot, this land be sold to finance purchase of a corporation yard site. The Forest Theater site should be retained by the city, the report indicated.

In the second report by the same committee, which was also approved by the commission yesterday, recommendations as to what should be done until the Junipero property is developed as a civic center were made. These recommendations included building a new temporary facility for the police department on the present police station site. This building should be so designed that it may be readily and economically converted to other use, the report stated.

Other recommendations were that the street department's quarters be moved, temporarily, to the Junipero property but only temporary and removable buildings be constructed.

Lastly, this report said that a site development plan for the Junipero property should be undertaken immediately in order that a basis for providing facilities for all the administrative offices and functions of the city on the Junipero site be established. This plan should provide, the report emphasized, a city hall and city clerk's office, also quarters for the planning director, building inspector, superintendent of public works and streets, and a police station, all at the civic center.

Members of the ad hoc committee which prepared all the above recommendations were Planning Commissioners Fred Keeble and George Willox and Chairman Dorothy von Meier.

Roy Fraties

The body of former police chief Roy C. Fraties was found near the top of Los Laureles Grade by a Monterey County deputy sheriff yesterday morning. He had left his car, walked a short distance, then shot and killed himself, apparently for reasons of ill health. There was a suicide note addressed to his family.

At the time of his death Roy Fraties was a resident agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Salinas. Born in Monterey County on January 2, 1901, he joined the Carmel Police Department in 1936 and served as chief from January 8, 1941 to November 1, 1950, when he resigned to enter training for the FBI.

Fraties leaves his wife, Bliss, of Salinas; a daughter, Mrs. Gus (Fordre) Weiser of Monterey; two sons, Gail R. Fraties of Carmel Valley and Arvid Fraties of Salinas. Also several other relatives in this area.

Funeral arrangements are to be announced by the Mission Mortuary.

SYMPHONY AUDITIONS FOR VERDI REQUIEM

Monterey County Symphony conductor John Gosling has announced that auditions for solo parts in Verdi's "Manzoni Requiem" will take place on Sunday at 3 p.m. in Sunset School auditorium.

Applicants for bass, tenor, mezzo-soprano and soprano parts will be heard at that time. Vocalists are expected to come prepared with an aria, preferably from a cantata by one of the romantic composers. They are asked to provide their own accompanist, if possible, although a stand-by accompanist will be available.

The Verdi "Requiem" will be presented by the Monterey County Symphony this May at its final concerts of the season in Salinas and Carmel.

land such as that owned by the Odellos and Mr. Fish.

This treatment could take the form of "planned residential" or "special treatment" zones, the commissioner suggested. Such development would retain the scenic and topographical values of the type of the land, also preserve the desired characteristics, and still give the property owners an opportunity to realize an equitable use and return on their holdings.

Use Permit Sought For Public Golf Course And Hotel Near Junior High school. This access road will be called Camino de Hatton. In the future, this road may be extended through Hatton Park to connect with Highway One by the Rio Road extension which the county has already approved in connection with 33-acre Carmel Center across Highway One from Mission Fields. If Camino de Hatton is so developed, Carmel Rancho Boulevard and Val Verde Road will also be access roads for Hatton Park.

At present, Hatton Park Development Corporation, of which Mr. Nieto is president, owns the 25 acres situated at the northwest part of the total acreage. This is the area designated for resort use.

The public golf course is located, in the plans, to the west of the resort area. This acreage will be acquired by a long term lease-purchase agreement from the owner, Mrs. Will Hatton of Corral de Tierra.

It is with Mrs. Hatton that Mr. Nieto has discussed the development of proposed Hatton Park for over five years. A noted conservationist, Mrs. Hatton wants to preserve the land along the river in a natural greenbelt state for the public to enjoy—this enjoyment to include views of the wooded areas as well as the recreational use created by the golf course. The preliminary plans for Hatton Park were developed in cooperation with Mrs. Hatton, Mr. Nieto emphasizes.

The Hatton Park Development Corporation is composed of members of the Nieto family, also members of the Kevin Walsh family of Carmel Valley.
